

Team Building Practices and Implementation

Business Problem

A property management seeks better team building practices among employees.

Solution

We interviewed a representative sample of the employees to confirm the perceived business problem.

Outcome

We facilitated a Team Building session using “Appreciative Inquiry” techniques to obtain what fellow employees appreciated about each other and found “helpful” versus “determining where weaknesses existed” among the employees and in the company.